NINETEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

AUGUST 7, 2016

The Gospel reading for the Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time concludes with a sobering warning: “Much will be required of the person entrusted with much, and still more will be demanded of the person entrusted with more.” Jesus directs this saying to his disciples, encouraging them to be faithful and prudent stewards to their calling until the Parousia (the second coming of Christ).

The Gospel reading for today is actually a collection of Jesus’ sayings, vv. 32-34, 35-40, 41-48. The first saying is Jesus’ invitation to nurture a relationship with God and ends with a pithy wisdom line: “For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be.” The second saying offers a more directed warning to disciples to be ready for the return of Christ: “Be like servants who await their master’s return from a wedding, ready to open immediately when he comes and knocks.” Since many distractions and challenges of daily life can put a follower’s “house” at risk, Jesus implores his disciples to “be prepared, for at an hour you do not expect, the Son of Man will come.” Peter’s question to Jesus (“Lord, is this parable meant for us or for everyone?”) sets the stage for the third saying. Here Jesus speaks to the disciples of “the faithful and prudent steward” who God “put in charge” of his servants and his property. With this divine charge comes an awesome responsibility that can sometimes be neglected or squandered. In Jesus’ concluding remarks to the disciples, we see Luke’s perspective on the end-time and the divine judgment that follows: the demands of discipleship cannot be subject to benign neglect or misuse as the faithful await the return of Christ.

Over the next four Sundays, the second reading is taken from final section of the Letter to the Hebrews, chapters 11 and 12. Scholars debate about the historical context of Hebrews. The author is anonymous. The date of composition is plausibly anywhere between AD 60 and 90. The place of composition is unknown, although Hebrews 13:24 suggests Rome. And the writing’s title, “To the Hebrews,” implies a Jewish audience (as does much of the writing’s content) but plenty of scholars see a mixed community of Jews and Gentiles as its target audience.

The second reading opens with a general definition of faith: “the realization of what is hoped for and evidence of things not seen.” Expanding upon this basic idea, the author cites many figures from the Old Testament who bore witness to their faith in God (for example, Abel, Enoch, Noah, Moses, and Jacob). In today’s reading, we hear specifically about the faith of Abraham. Through his trust in God, Abraham received both land and descendants. And even when tested, Abraham’s faith never wavered. Yet Abraham and all the other faithful figures from the Old Testament, “died in faith,” not receiving “what had been promised.” In citing these many Old Testament exemplars of faith, the author of Hebrews drives home the point of the privilege of the Christian community of believers to whom he is writing—they have seen and received the “promise” of God in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. He urges his fellow community members, who have apparently become “sluggish in hearing” (Heb 5:11), to realize anew what they have hoped for when they first came to faith in Christ.

Disciples in every age are challenged to remain faithful to the call that first brought them to Christ. The duty—and privilege—of each generation of believers is to remain faithful until Christ’s return.

VOLUNTEER

Your Time & Services

Ushers, greeters, communion ministers, lectors, altar servers and sacristans are needed for Saturday and Sunday Masses. Don't worry about needing experience—we will train you! See Tim Westfall for more information. Either call at 248-477-7470 x202 or email at timwestfall.sgp@gmail.com or after Mass.

Garden Club

Thanks to our secret angels, we have adequate brown bags---at least until a "Fall Clean-up Day"! However, the rectory backyard was only partly mulched in early spring and is need of 20 or so more bags of red mulch. Perhaps a few of our kind donors might fill this need...they can be stacked at the north end of the garage.

The gardens have survived our spell of heat and no rain but the need continues to watch for and pull weeds.

We hope you take some time to visit Mary's prayer garden and enjoy this peaceful grotto. Agnes Bongero has landscaped it beautifully.

DONATIONS OF FLEECE NEEDED:

One or our many projects for Mercy Day In Action are fleece blankets for cancer patients. We are accepting donations of 1 and 1/2 yards of two different prints of fleece to make each blanket. Please drop your donation off in the box located in the Social Hall. Thank you!

SACRED HEART MAJOR SEMINARY/INSTITUTE FOR MINISTRY
Many students are registering for classes at Sacred Heart Major Seminary this month, thanks to Parish Empowerment Fund scholarships funded by gifts to the Catholic Services Appeal.

Our major seminary not only prepares men for ordination to the priesthood and the permanent diaconate, it offers degree and certificate programs for lay women and men seeking to be "new evangelists for the new millennium" at the Institute for Ministry. Through discernment and theological reflection, the institute guides and challenges commuter students to deepen their commitment to spiritual growth, attend to their call, and identify their gifts for service in the Church.

For more information about Sacred Heart Major Seminary or the Institute for Ministry, please go to www.shms.edu. For more information about CSA-funded ministries, programs, and services, please go to www.AOD.org.

KNIGHTS CORNER

A Few Seats Available for Aug. 10 Casino Bus Trip; Owens, Gulicks Knight and Family of the Month

If you haven't already done so, pick up a book of tickets for the raffle that is part of the parish festival. Tickets are available after Sunday mass. The Council has been asked to supply some manpower for the Sept. 9-10 event which will have a spaghetti dinner Friday night and a music tent the following night. There also will be a classic car show. A volunteer signup sheet will be circulated at the Aug. 16 membership meeting.

A big salute to Sir Knight Claude Centers who celebrated two big milestones this past week. Claude enjoyed a 90th birthday gathering Aug. 2 and the day before began his 68th year as a member of our Order. In addition to being an active member of our Council he also is active in Assembly 1596. Claude and wife Pat, a parish activist for many years, were cited in 2012 as our Council's Family of the Year.

PGK Rich Smith reports that only a few seats remain available on the Aug. 10 casino bus trip to the Fire Keepers Casino outside Battle Creek. The bus leaves the church parking lot at 9 AM and returns around 6 PM. Tickets are $35 which includes $25 worth of credits for meals and wagering plus light refreshments on the bus. To reserve a spot, call Rich at 313-421-0204.

Congratulations to Jamie Owens, named August's Knight of the Month, and to Brian and Lynne Gulick and son Rob who were cited as Family of the Month for August. Brother Owens was nominated as a result of being a major helper at the Parish Picnic. The Gulicks were singled out for their overall service to the parish and for assisting in Fr. Festus' last mass and moving him to his new parish home.

The South Oakland Shelter needs volunteers for various tasks and donations of food as it settles into North Congregational Church Aug. 14-21. To volunteer or to donate food, go to the Church's website, NorthCongregationalChurch.org, and click on the appropriate link in the center of the home page. Or, if you do not have an e-mail account, call coordinator Danny Hawkins at 248-217-1750. Our Council will be cooking dinner Aug. 17 for the 50 or so homeless folks who are being assisted that week.

The Knights of Columbus is the world's largest brotherhood of Catholic men!
